DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1-20 are replete with 112 rejection. Some examples are given below.

From the applicant's language recited in Claim 1, from which Claim 5 depends, it is unclear whether the applicant is claiming the combination of a "method of electronically managing a payment media exception...by a payment media handling apparatus" and a "payment media exception" or the subcombination of the "method of electronically managing a payment...by a payment media handling apparatus" only. For example, in the preamble of Claim 1 it is clear that a "the method" is being claimed alone. However, in line 1 of Claim 5, the "payment media exception" is being positively recited thus rendering it unclear as to whether or not combination of the "method" and "payment media exception" or subcombination of "a method" alone is being claimed.

For the purposes of this application the following action is directed toward the subcombination of a "method" only.

Regarding Claim 8, line 1, it is not clear what is "instructing" the user. These examples are only illustrative and not considered to be inclusive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dobbins (US 2002/0063034 A1) in view of Jones (US 6,128,402).

Regarding Claims 1, 16 and 19, Dobbins discloses the method and system of electronically managing a payment media exception processed from a payment media originating source, i.e., such as a cashier's cash drawer as mentioned at paragraph 3, first five lines, by a payment media handling apparatus, such as a bill acceptor (106), as mentioned in paragraph 32.

Dobbins further discloses Initiating a payment media acceptance operation using the payment media handling apparatus, i.e., such as mentioned in paragraphs 32 and 36, which mentions that cashiers who identify themselves or other persons with wireless ID tags, such as the store manager, may access the payment media handling apparatus.

Dobbins further discloses processing the at least one of the payment media determined to be unacceptable based upon instructions provided by a retail store. See Dobbins at paragraph 49, last four lines, i.e., “many retailers require all $50 and $100 bills be dropped directly and immediately into the electronic safe...”

Regarding Claims 2, 17 and 20, note that the originating source is the cash till of a register from a retail store.

Regarding Claims 3 and 18, note that Dobbins disclose handling bills and checks at paragraph 49.

Regarding Claim 4, note that Dobbins discloses reporting various parameters and data regarding the transactions with the payment media handling device at figure 4 and at paragraph 5, for example.

Regarding Claim 5, Dobbins discloses damaged or worn bills at paragraph 29.

Regarding Claims 1, 16 and 19, Dobbins does not expressly disclose, but Jones discloses automatically determining if the payment media is in an acceptable or unacceptable condition. See Jones at col. 8, lines 35-53.

Regarding Claims 1, 16 and 19, at the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have included a currency or bill acceptor as taught by Jones, in Dobbins' currency acceptor, since Dobbins' does not disclose details of such an acceptor, but suggests the use of an acceptor as taught by Jones. Further, Jones' device is disclosed at col. 3, lines 12-20 as rapidly processing bills.

Thus, it would have been evident to one ordinarily skilled to incorporate Jones' bill acceptor into Dobbins' apparatus in order to rapidly process bills.

Regarding Claims 6-7, Jones further discloses notifying the user that the at least one payment media has been rejected by the currency handling device. See Jones at col. 8, lines 35-53, in which rejected bills are returned to the customer/user. Note that the act of returning the bills to the customer is construed as notification that the bills are unacceptable.

Regarding Claim 8, official notice is taken that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have instructed the user to manually rearrange or reposition a portion of the currency that is determined to be unacceptable by the media handling apparatus, i.e., for example, straightening out a folded or crumpled bill to remove the folds.

Regarding Claim 9, note that both Jones' and Dobbins currency handling devices are considered to be secure drop boxes.

Regarding Claim 10, note that Dobbins discloses placing payment media in an envelope at figure 2, for example.

Regarding Claims 11 and 12, Dobbins discloses providing information concerning the envelope of currency at paragraph 33.

Regarding Claim 13, see Dobbins again at paragraph 49, last four lines.

Regarding Claim 14, note again that Dobbins discloses processing envelopes only from approved users with a user id such as a wireless device as described at paragraph 35 and processing only particular values of bills at paragraph 49.

Art Unit: 3653

Regarding Claim 15, Dobbins discloses notifying a supervisor at paragraphs 36, 38 and 44-46

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thornton, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-20 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over Claims 1-20 of copending Application No. 10/524,109; Claims 1-19 and 21 of copending Application No. 10/524,110; Claims 1-19 and 24 of copending Application No. 10/524,111; Claims 1-18, 23 and 35 of copending Application No. 10/524,112; Claims 1-7, 9-10 and 12-14 of copending Application No. 10/933,289; and Claims 1-9, 11, 13-33, 35 and 37-45 of copending Application No. 11/117,563. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the independent claims of each of the mentioned applications embodies the subject matter of the Claims of the instant application. Specifically, these Claims recite a method of electronically managing a payment media exception processed from a payment media originating source by a payment media handling apparatus including the steps of initiating payment media acceptance using the payment media handling apparatus, automatically determining whether at least one of the payment media is in an unsuitable condition to be accepted by the media handling apparatus, and processing the at least one of the payment media determined to be unsuitable based on rules in a lookup table, instructions from a user, instructions from a supervisor and instructions provided by an entity other than a retail store.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
